David Bowker Sentenced To A Term in County Jail

GRANTS 12 PAROLES

Two Men Involved in Theft of Liquor Are Also Paroled

DOYLESTOWN, July 8.—A young Bristol man, David Bowker, 21, of Pond street, pleaded guilty in court here yesterday before Judge Hiram H. Keller. Bowker was charged with stealing $120 in cash and a $25 war bond from the home of Charles Walker, Fifth avenue, Bristol.

Bowker was sentenced to pay the costs, return the amount stolen and to serve from one to five years in the county prison.

Chief of Police Linford J. Jones, of Bristol, testified that Bowker was dishonorably discharged from the U. S. Army last July, he being AWOL. It was stated that Bowker had been married twice. Chief Jones read a confession in which Bowker admitted stealing the money belonging to Walker. Bowker had stated he needed the money to keep his home operating, mentioning that his wife was expecting a baby. None of the money has been recovered, according to the police chief, although the bond was returned to Mr. Walker when it was retrieved by the police.

Bowker admitted on the stand that the Walkers had befriended him many times, and that they had also helped him financially on numerous occasions. Bowker on the stand stated that he was "dead broke," and that he went to the Walker home when the family was away. He told where he secured the money, he having knowledge of the property because he had previously boarded there.

In addressing Bowker in court Judge Keller stated: "The Court has nothing good whatever to say about you."

James Bailey, Trenton, N. J., pleaded guilty before Judge Keller yesterday to a charge of drawing a forged instrument. Constable Thomas South, of Yardley, testified that Bailey had endorsed an insurance check for $57.08 which was made payable to Mary E. S. Bailey, and had signed the name of the woman as well as his own in order to secure the money.

Testimony presented showed that Bailey is married and that his wife and children reside in Trenton, N. J., with Bailey's relatives. The name of Mrs. Mary Seibert, a divorcee, was given on the check in question as Mary E. S. Bailey.

Bailey admitted he had served four different terms in New Jersey, one being for larceny. He recently completed 23 months in the Mercer County Workhouse. It was brought out. Yesterday he was sentenced to return the amount of money involved, and to serve from nine to 18 months in the county prison. The judge warned against anyone trying to seek Bailey's release before the

WARN AGAINST DELAY IN CAR INSPECTION

Current Inspection Period Ends Midnight of July 31st

STATIONS ARE FEWER

In a statement issued through South Langhorne barracks of Pennsylvania State Police, Col. C. M. Wilhelm, head of the Pennsylvania State Police today warned against any further delay on the part of motorists in having their cars inspected. The current inspection period which began May 1st ends midnight, July 31st.

After that date, Col. Wilhelm emphasized, a car cannot be legally operated in Pennsylvania unless the Red Keystone Inspection Sticker appears in the lower right hand corner of the windshield.

The state police head gave car owners a number of reasons why there should be no further delay in completing inspection, as follows:
(1) There are over a thousand less inspection stations operating in Pennsylvania today than a year ago and a serious shortage of mechanics due to the war effort. This makes last minute congestion and confusion inevitable if motorists persist in delay.
(2) The war transportation system depends largely upon motor vehicle operation and uninspected cars will be removed from that vital phase of the war effort with possible serious consequences.
(3) Inspection is a legal requirement in the interest of safety. It protects life, limb and property by providing a vehicle safe to operate. In the war emergency it serves a still greater purpose in that it helps to conserve motor vehicle equipment which must last for the duration and perhaps cannot be replaced for at least a year after the war has ended.
(4) It provides a regular, systematic checkup of the car which every motorist interested in his own safety and the welfare of others should be eager to have done.
(5) It is of vital importance to day as a War Emergency safeguard and every motorist whose car is serving in war work should look upon it as a patriotic duty.

SCOUTS WILL ARRIVE AT CAMP ON SATURDAY

OUTLINE PROJECTS

POINT PLEASANT, July 8.—Camp Ockanickon, the Bucks County Council Boy Scout camp, has gotten under way with the staff in camp setting up tents, being trained in the departmental work, building an adventure trail, relocating the trading post, preparing for feeding, swimming and advancement and the activities program.

Fifteen scouts and scouters from all parts of the county, under the direction of Scout Executive Raymond W. Hoxworth, camp director, assisted by John Burtonwood, field commissioner of health and safety of Bristol, will complete the task on Saturday morning ready for the 125 scouts of the county who will arrive for a stay of from one to two weeks. Dr. A. J. Strathie, of Newtown, chairman of the camping committee of the council, will inspect the camp previous to its opening. Other members of the camping committee and other committees of the council including Harry S. Hoffman, Herbert A. Pettit, Robert E. Hershey and Edward Mills have all taken part in the preparing of the camp this week.

Rifle instructions will be given at camp, and Private Fred Kohler of the Pennsylvania State Police has been assigned by Lieutenant Minor to instruct the scouts in rifle work and marksmanship. Throughout the summer various projects of interest to scouts, such as civilian defense instruction, forest fire fighter service under the supervision of the State Forestry Department, and other interesting activities will constitute the program which will supplement scoutcraft work.

Treasury Mistake

Washington, July 6. IT WOULD be greatly in the national interests in and keeping those he had. The mortality among Treasury officials in the last ten years has exceeded that in any other department. One has only to call the roll of the Under Secretaries who have come and gone—Dean Acheson, Roswell Magill, T. Jefferson Coolidge, John W. Haynes—to prove the instability of the organization.

IN ADDITION there have been numerous Assistant Secretaries, special aides and advisers who have come into the Treasury, stayed a little while and gone out. Some of these changes have not been Mr. Morgenthau's fault; some of them have been. Certainly, recent resignations, such as those of Mr. George Buffington and Mr. Robert Hobbs, were his own responsibility, due largely to his strange decision to scrap the Federal Reserve setup under which the last two drives

GERMAN MORALE

Various examinations of the temperament of the German people as manifested in their history during the last hundred years have convinced some scientists that they are afflicted with a mass mental illness which makes them a menace to world peace. This view holds that they will break under the pressure of military defeat, but will quit before they are seriously hurt.

They will quit not in resignation to a place among peace-loving nations, but to conserve what remains of their strength as a reserve upon which to rebuild their military machine for another try at what they believe to be the destiny of the master race—world domination.

The traits which inspired the Germans to hope for victory in the last war after the entrance of the United States assured their defeat are much more pronounced in this generation of combatant Germans. The young German soldier of today is the product of intensive master-race indoctrination since childhood, which far exceeds in effectiveness the propaganda and training of Wilhelm and his Prussian militarists.

The morale of the defeated Afrika Korps was found to be high. It had survived a sound drubbing which included a demonstration that the air support upon which the German army depends can be wiped out.

But as in the last war there may be too much reliance in Germany on the fortitude of civilians. They will be fed and made as comfortable as possible on loot from the occupied countries. They will be assured that labor drafts on the subjugated peoples give Germany a tremendous advantage. The effect of repeated bombings, of growing intensity, on German industrial centers probably is underestimated.

Germany is friendless and her guilt in starting the war is recognized by the entire world. Now that her defeat is assured, every casualty on both sides is a product of German depravity. No people can stand up indefinitely under that physical beating and moral indictment.

CAN THEY TELL 'EM?

What would Mussolini and Hitler, totalitarian rulers of the annals of the world, think of the announcement of the Allied Liquor Industries Inc. of New York, that normal stocks now aging in bonded warehouses are adequate to last three to four years on a rationed basis, and that the distillers, now making industrial alcohol for the production of explosives, expect to resume the making of distilled spirits as soon as government officials feel that sufficient alcohol has been stored for war needs?

Can Hitler and Mussolini tell their people that Americans have three or four years' supply of liquor coming to them, and that there is nearly enough industrial alcohol already manufactured in America to make explosives for propelling the shells and projectiles that the people of the Axis countries have coming to them?

The wonderful infants' Dept. in the new Chestnut St. Snellenburg Store has a nursery-stuff corner and this is where you will find the clever little "Pusher Cart" I am describing. It is entirely of wood and meant for the sit-up baby and old-fashioned birch. Strongly dovetailed together, to stand weight and hard wear. So built that the groceries can be trundled home on the "step" with or without the baby! $14.95 and worth it! (2nd fl.)

Young Girls Serve As Volunteer Emergency Aides

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, July 8.—Miss Lois McCartney and Miss Georgiamary White, although young of years, have answered one of their country's crying needs by joining the Junior Volunteer Emergency Aid, and are now serving three days a week as assistants in the children's ward at the hospital of the University of Pennsylvania.

Georgiamary and Lois, with several other Junior aides, were given rigid training under the supervision of Miss Lang. Originally these Juniors were not to be used in the wards but they proved themselves so adept they are now helping to relieve the shortage of nurses in the hospital. When interviewed, Georgiamary said it had always been her ambition to become a doctor, and since her association with hospital life she is certain she would like to make that profession her career. Lois, on the other hand, said she is happy over this opportunity to help humanity and the war effort, but feels there are other talents she would like to develop. Both girls are in their 14th year, and their parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. Burnley White, Cornwells Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. James McCartney, Andalusia.

Today's Quiet Moment (By the Rev. James R. Galley, Pastor)

Grant, O Father, that thy blessing might rest upon the men and women from our community who are now serving in the armed forces of our country. Bless those who this day departed from our midst. Give unto them a sense of thy nearness which will enable them to speak to thee at all times and to hear thy voice. Keep their minds and hearts clean, and in the midst of the rigors of war, enable them to keep their eyes turned toward thee, Who alone can strengthen and support them in the new surroundings and conditions in which they will labor. were successfully made and around which had clustered some 50,000 trained bond salesmen from all over the country, working under the experienced direction of the Federal Reserve presidents in the twelve regional divisions.

IT WAS a shock when a month ago Mr. Morgenthau announced that all this was to be thrown into the discard and the next drive would be handled on a State basis with forty-eight State chairmen whom he would select. This is to report that the shock has not subsided and that the situation as it exists is disturbing. In defense of Mr. Morgenthau's action in throwing the Federal Reserve out of the war-bond picture it is said that the new arrangement will utilize State pride as an asset and, through the war savings stamp staff, be more effective in getting bonds into the hands of the lower-income groups.

THE ANSWER given to that is, first, that so far as war bonds are concerned, State pride amounts to nothing at all. People buy bonds because they are a good investment and because it is a patriotic duty, but not out of State pride. As to methods of the war saving stamps staff, one of which is the extensive use of movie picture stars, the volume of its sales has been very small compared with the money obtained through the Victory Fund committees, banks and security houses, which co-operated under the discarded Federal Reserve set-up. "We cannot depend," said Henry G. Bengel, a Chicago banker, "on such stunts as stripping savings stamps off Hollywood girls' legs. The war saving staff is not a functioning organization that had done splendid work, setting up one whose capacity is yet to be proved. It would be pretty fine if, recognizing a mistake, the Secretary should act now to correct it. It would refute the critics who ascribe motives of personal pique to him and it would confound those who insist

IT HAS been publicly asserted that Mr. Morgenthau's decision was due to his feeling that the Federal Reserve System and the banks were getting all the credit and he was being pushed to one side. It has been further asserted that there is a feud between Mr. Morgenthau, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and himself, and he felt he could not permit Mr. Eccles to be out in front in the war-financing program. These seem petty reasons for changing a successful system for one that is experimental. Yet no others that appear adequate have been advanced, and it is true that Mr. Morgenthau has not justified the change. It could be justified, of course, if the Federal Reserve set-up had failed in the previous drives. But it achieved signal successes in both—raising five and one half billions more than the Treasury asked in the April drive and two billion more in the December drive.

MR. MORGENTHAU himself was greatly elated over both drives, and it was generally accepted that the organization responsible would continue. And then on the first of June

FLEETWINGS NINE WILL OPPOSE N. J. PRISON GUARDS

Airplane Builders Will Swap
Line Drives In Game
Tonight

AT HIGH SCHOOL FIELD

Prison Guards Are Out To Defeat the Strong
Bristol Team

The Fleetwings Arrows, sporting a series of baseball victories reminiscent of the Yankees' heyday, are scheduled to swap line drives with the redoubtable Prison Guards' nine from New Jersey's State Prison, tonight, at Bristol High School field.

The Guards, quite used to detaining those with erroneous ideas, are determined to mix business with pleasure and turn the key on the Arrows. Indeed, they confidently expect to banish the Arrows' sluggers without a solitary run, allowing no break whatsoever for the Fleetwings. Rather, the Arrows are to be given nine clippers for a number and advised to make no stir about it under pain of receiving an even more drastic sentence.

However, the Arrows have pointedly allowed it to be noised about via the grapevine that they are facing their coming trial armed with a battery of potent baseball law. In short, the Arrows are relying on the dynamite hidden in their bats to blast the New Jersey Keepers back to their guard-house.

A big house is expected to view the forthcoming riot at 6:15 p. m.

WET GROUNDS BLOCK HUNTER-VOLTZ GAME

The Hunter-Voltz-Texaco game scheduled for last evening on the Itham & Haas field was called off because of wet grounds. This evening in a Bristol Suburban League tilt, Diamond will play Hunter's. Diamond has won the only game played in the second half.

It is most likely that Jim Katz will do the hurling for Hunter's, with Johnson doing the receiving. Manager "Henny" Morgan may do the flinging for Diamond, with Wiser behind the plate.

Game begins at 6:30 o'clock.

ed bases in the Bougainville area northwest of New Georgia, hurling 45 tons of bombs on the Kahlil air-drome alone, despite strong resistance from anti-aircraft guns ashore and on enemy ships. Large formations of dive-bombers, bombers and torpedo planes, escorted by fighters, also blasted enemy positions and an airdrome on Kolombangara Island, across Kula Gulf from New Georgia.

Allied fighter patrol planes dispersed squadrons of enemy bombers escorted by 56 Zeros which attempted to attack captured Rendova Island. Three of the enemy bombers and nine Zeros were shot down at a cost of only one Allied fighter plane.

In New Guinea, Allied bombers supporting ground troops advancing toward the enemy base at Salamaua hurled 106 tons of bombs on Jap-held Mubo, 10 miles south of Salamaua, while other planes strafed positions of Jap ground troops.

An unconfirmed Tokyo communiqué claimed Jap troops made a surprise attack at the rear of American and Australian troops near Salamaua Monday and pushed back the Allied forces, inflicting heavy losses. All Allied communiqués to date have described casualties as moderate or small.

On the Russian front, the Germans continued to hurl enormous numbers of troops, tanks and planes into their current offensive on the 160-mile front between Orsk and Belgorod.

Soviet forces were counter-attacking strongly to wipe out German gains in the Belgorod sector, where the Nazis overran several villages. In other sectors the Russians were checking the powerful Nazi drive.

Moscow announced 39,000 Nazi slain during the three-day-old offensive and declared a total of 1,539 German tanks and 649 enemy planes were destroyed in the same period. The strength of the attacking German forces was estimated at 450,000 men in 15 Panzer divisions, 14 infantry divisions and one motorized division.

In London, the British Air Ministry announced continuance of the aerial war on occupied Europe, with new attacks late yesterday on objectives in northern France and the Low Countries by formations of RAF Mustangs, Typhoons and Spitfires.

Court Disposes of Numerous Cases At Miscellaneous Session

nine months minimum term has expired.

Among 12 paroles granted by Judges Hiram H. Keller and Calvin S. Boyer yesterday was that of Richard Schofield, Bristol, whose minimum term will expire on September 3rd. Schofield had been sentenced to from four months to one year on charges of adultery and assault and battery. Parole was granted when it was shown that a job was waiting for the man.

William K. Kelly, of Philadelphia, who had been sentenced to from two to 23 months following his pleading guilty to theft of whiskey from Wilson Distillery, Bristol, was granted a parole also. He had served the minimum sentence. The Court was informed that a job was awaiting Kelly on a large farm at Emille, Leo Kasperzak, Philadelphia, who had also been sentenced to from two to 23 months in the county prison, and who was the driver of the truck in the liquor theft case, was also given a parole.

due to the fact he has a job. Costs in the cases were remitted by the Court. Kasperzak has been working on the county farm, and in a fall in the bay now at the county home last week, broke his false teeth. The judge in the case stated that due to the "tough luck" of Kasperzak the costs would be remitted.

Isabelle Darrak, Bristol, who was convicted of stealing a bag of coal, was paroled by the court. He is to pay the cost of prosecution amounting to $53.50, to be paid $5 weekly, and when $39 has been paid the balance is to be forgiven.

Edward McGowan, Bristol, sentenced to six months for stealing gasoline from an automobile parked in back of a theatre, was paroled, subject to a detainer from the State Industrial School at Camp Hill.

The appeal from the summary proceedings was sustained by Judge Boyer in the case of Dominick Kay, Falls Township. It involved a dispute over the payment of back wages.
